Sarah: Okay, so I know we talked about Europe, but I was thinking, maybe Australia?

Jay: Yeah, but I tend to shy away from all the creatures there. I'm not really fond of going places where almost everything could kill me.

Sarah: You're right. I'd forgotten how many dangerous animals there are in Australia. What about the Bahamas?

Jay: We could come back from there by boat.

Sarah: If we do that, we might as well take a cruise.

Jay: That would be good. We could keep away from the shore, be on the open ocean.

Sarah: But that's scary. Open water and big boat seem terrifying.

Jay: Yeah, I guess so.

Sarah: Let's stray from those then. Where else could we go?

Jay: We could go to Asia?

Sarah: Sure! Which country?

Jay: I've always wanted to visit Korea. I love Kimchi!

Sarah: Me too. I have a few friends from Korea, I'll reach out to them and hear from them where the best places to visit are.

Jay: Sounds good, so where else could we go?

Sarah: What about Egypt? We could take a lot from a trip there, learn a lot and enjoy the sights.

Jay: Get away! I don't really want to learn on a vacation.

Sarah: That's boring. You just want to laze around? What would you get from it?

Jay: Relaxation. I wouldn't be stressed and could just unwind.

Sarah: Okay, I get it. We'll stay away from learning spaces.

Sarah: What about the Maldives?

Jay: Yeah, yeah, that sounds good.

Sarah: Good, then we're agreed. We'll ask my friends about Korea and I'll look more into the Maldives.
