Jim: Let's eat out for dinner. I don't feel like cooking today.

Pam: Eating out? Besides the fact that I'm worn out from work, didn't we agree not to eat out this month? You are out of work for months and I am running out of money too.

Jim: I know, but hear me out. Today was the worst day ever. I tried to take out some money from my bank account, but I found out there was no money left anymore. I was so embarrassed that I ran out of the bank. I felt so left out.

Pam: Oh, honey. I feel you! I am so sorry to hear that you are already out of money. We will figure it out soon. You are going to find a new job, and everything will turn out to be fine!

Jim: I wanted to be a good doctor as my father wanted me to be, but I am not cut out for the job. Blood scares the shit out of me! It freaks me out!

Pam: For crying out loud! You shout out curses again! How many times did I point that out? You shouldn't swear in this house. Kids can hear us out and learn it from you.

Jim: Pardon my French... I am not in the mood recently... I am out of condition and shape. I should work out regularly.

Pam: I know you are burnt out honey.

Jim: I want to change my life. Let's go out for a walk and get some fresh air! What are you saying?

Pam: Are you asking me out?

Jim: haha. If you want to put it that way, yes, let's go out only you and me.

Pam: How about the kids?

Kid1: Sorry for eavesdropping! But you guys kind of shout out. Don't worry about us. We can hang out together without you two!

Kids2: That's right! Before we kick you out! Hurry out! You can't back out of it now. Get out of this house, lovebirds!

Kids 1: We are going to lock the doors and keep you out!

Pam: hahaha alright kids, have fun. We are heading out then.

Jim: Give us a hug out of love.

Kids2: You two hug it out first and promise that you will never fight again!

Pam: It wasn't a fight. Come on, let's hug altogether.
